William D. Seider , FAIA Principal

Thoughtful and soft-spoken, Bill's easy confidence, insights, and experience inspire both PIVOT staff and clients. Like an umbrella on a rainy northwest day, Bill's encyclopedic knowledge, heartfelt, unwavering professionalism and legendary intuition watch over the rest of us splashing in the puddles. For thirty years, he's set the pace and tone for the firm. Though raised in New York and educated in Oklahoma, Bill's sensibilities are pure Northwest. His contributions to the region show in his professional service – he's been active in local, state, and national professional organizations since his college days – and the major public projects he's brought to fruition. The University of Oregon's Moshofsky Center, multiple projects for Lane County's health services, state government buildings, are just a few. His thoughtful contributions make the intersection of function and timeless beauty a place people love.

Registered Architect - States of Oregon and Washington NCARB Certificate Holder

As one of the key project leaders at PIVOT Architecture in Eugene, Oregon, Bill enjoys being a mentor for his team and utilizing the strengths of each team member. He has an affinity for projects that require realistic technical skills such as integrating mechanical/electrical system upgrades seamlessly into existing buildings. He also likes renovation projects because he is a consummate problem solver who enjoys making things better. Bill has guided the design and planning of a wide variety of projects for public agencies and private businesses. Along with new facilities, he has also worked on numerous remodel and retrofit projects, historic restorations, and building repair and addition projects.

Principal

PIVOT Architecture

June 1974 – Present (42 years 1 month)

PIVOT Architecture is an interdisciplinary firm with expertise in Architecture, Planning, and Interiors. Established in Eugene, Oregon in 1956, the firm has experience with a wide variety of project types and services. Formerly known as WBSG Architecture & Planning, the firm recently celebrated 52 years of successful projects and changed its name to PIVOT Architecture.

Our staff of 25 include 11 Registered Architects and 3 Interior Designers. 7 firm members are also LEED Accredited Professionals.

PIVOT Architecture believes all projects revolve around the CLIENT; their dreams, values, budget and collective vision. We believe that inspired DESIGN is the natural result of spaces that have relevance, celebrate beauty and are built with their users in mind. We bring extensive KNOWLEDGE and solid experience as collaborators with a passion for excellence. We embrace the core value that SUSTAINABLE buildings provide healthy environments, efficient use of resources and lasting value. We strive to have FUN in our work and with our clients, and we encourage our clients to enjoy the journey as well. Ultimately, we are motivated by the pivotal moments that take a project from a spark in the imagination to the moment the doors open to the world outside.

William Seider, a steadfast advocate for continuing education requirements in pursuit of uniform standards, has been elevated to the American Institute of Architects' College of Fellows, the prestigious honor awarded to members who have made significant contributions to the profession.
